

The centre for London's built environment

NEW LONDON ARCHITECTURE GALLERY

KNOTT ARCHITECTS are in an exhibition curated by New London Architecture. The exhibition is located at the Building Centre, 26 Store Street, WC1 (just off Tottenham Court Road) which is open 6 days a week until 30 January 2010. Along side this exhibition are other interesting exhibitions about the built environment of London.

Link - www.newlondonarchitecture.org/exhibitions.php

'NLA launched a competition this Autumn, in association with The Building Centre, Time Out, RIBA London and Elle Decoration, to find London's best and most innovative home extensions.

This exhibition displays the 32 shortlisted and winning schemes, which will provide inspiration for homeowners looking to create more space in their homes. The projects demonstrate a wide range of approaches to extending your home, including basement excavations, rooftop extensions, innovative mezzanine insertions, and entire retrofitting projects, which use a range of materials at a variety of budgets.

On Saturday 23 January, a special day of free 'Don't Move, Improve!' public events will take place at NLA, with architect surgeries offering advice on home extensions, lectures from architects and designers, and advice on being more green and energy efficient. Many of the leading furniture retailers around Tottenham Court Road will also be offering design advice and special promotions for 'Don't Move, Improve!' visitors during the day. Further details coming soon...'

